

REPUBLICAN PLATFORM IS ROOSEVELT'S OWN FROM THE START TO FINISH

ROOSEVELT'S PLATFORM QUITE THE SAME AS THE "TENTATIVE" DRAFT

Excepting Court Plank, the Document Presented to Republican Convention Differs in no Essential Way from That Published a Few Days Ago.

If there is any marked difference between the platform adopted by the Republican National Convention to-day and the draft of the document republished by President Roosevelt, a few days ago, it is hardly discernible. All the essential planks, with the exception of the anti-injunction, which has been trimmed in Convention Hall, are the same in quite every particular. The text of the platform follows:

"Once more the Republican party, in National Convention assembled, submits its cause to the people. This great historic organization, that destroyed slavery, preserved the Union, restored the national domain, established a sound financial system, developed the industries and resources of the country and gave to the nation her seat of honor in the councils of the world, now meets the new problems of government with the same courage and capacity with which it solved the old.

In this, the greatest era of American advancement, the Republican party has reached its highest service under the leadership of Theodore Roosevelt. His administration is an epoch in American history. In no other period since national sovereignty was won under Washington, or preserved under Lincoln, has there been such mighty progress in those ideals of government which make for justice, equality and fair dealing among men.

Roosevelt's Record.

The great accomplishments of President Roosevelt have been first and foremost, a brave and impartial enforcement of the law; the prosecution of illegal trusts and monopolies; the exposure and punishment of evildoers in the public service; the more effective regulation of the rates and service of the great transportation lines; the complete overthrow of preferences, rebates and discriminations; the arbitration of labor disputes; the amelioration of the condition of wage-workers everywhere; the conservation of the natural resources of the country; the forward step in the improvement of the inland waterways, and always the earnest support and defense of every wholesome safeguard which has made more secure the guarantees of life, liberty and property.

These are the achievements that will make for Theodore Roosevelt his place in history, but more than all else the greatest thing he has done will be an inspiration to those who have greater things to do. We declare our unflinching adherence to the policies thus inaugurated and pledge their continuance under a Republican administration of the Government.

The Republican party declares unequivocally for a revision of the tariff by a special session of Congress immediately following the inauguration of the next President, and commends the steps already taken to this end in the work assigned to the appropriate committees of Congress are now investigating the operation and effect of existing schedules. In all tariff legislation the true principle of protection is best maintained by the imposition of such duties as will equal the difference between the cost of production at home and abroad, together with a reasonable profit to American industries.

The Tariff Plank.
We favor the establishment of maximum and minimum rates to be administered by the President, and modifications fixed in the law, the maximum to be available to meet discriminations by foreign countries against American goods entering their markets, and the minimum to represent the normal measure of protection at home; the aim and purpose of the Republican policy being not only to preserve without excessive duties that security against foreign competition to which American manufacturers, farmers and producers are entitled, but also to maintain the high standard of living of the

Taft Nomination To-Day Will Relieve Delegates From Hughes Bonds.

CHICAGO, June 18.—The following letter, written by Vice-President Taft, was made public last night:

Indianapolis, June 16, 1908.

My dear Mr. Keating:

I appreciate the compliment paid me by my friends in this insister that I should accept a nomination for Vice-President, yet my determination not to be a candidate again, as announced before the close of the last session of Congress through you, is absolutely irrevocable. My conclusion does not grow directly from any want of appreciation of the honor for the Vice-Presidency is an honor which any man may well covet. No one is obliged to step down to it. I have enjoyed the great honor which came to me and I am proud of it. I am proud of the thought and the undivided voice of my party, for which I am profoundly grateful.

This renewed expression of the confidence of my friends touches me most deeply. They need no assurance that I have come to the conclusion I have reached deliberately, and I trust that my grateful appreciation of your generous, unflinching and loyal support, I remain, faithfully your friend,

CHARLES W. FAIRBANKS.

A similar letter was written by the Vice-President to Senator Hemmaway, the Vice-President's letter is not taken seriously by many of the leaders, and it is pointed out that he does not say he will decline the honor. Mr. Keating, however, is quoted by a friend as saying that his father does not want to be placed on the ticket with Taft. The steam-roller methods of the Taft managers have aroused the ill Indianians' wrath, and he believes that he would humiliate himself to be the tail of the Taft ticket.

The Army and Navy.

The present Congress passed many commendable acts, increasing the efficiency of the army and navy; making the militia of the States an integral part of the national establishment; authorizing joint maneuvers of army and militia; fortifying new naval bases and completing the construction of coal stations; instituting a female nurse corps for naval hospitals; and ships, and adding two new battleships, ten torpedo boat destroyers, three steam colliers, and eight submarines to the strength of the fleet. Although at peace with all the world, and secure in the consciousness that the American people do not desire and will not make a war with any other country, we nevertheless declare our unalterable devotion to the policy that will keep the republic ready at all times to defend her traditional doctrines and assure her permanent tranquility among the nations.

Beyond all platform declarations there is a difference between the Republican party and its chief opponent which make the one party the friend and the other the enemy of the people.

In history the difference between the two parties is increasing. The one stood for debased currency, the other for honest currency; the one for free silver, the other for sound money; the one for free trade, the other for protection; the one for the conservation of the country, the other for its expansion; the one has been forced to abandon every position taken on the great issues because the people, the other has held and vindicated.

HOW THE BATTLE OVER INJUNCTION PLANK WAS WON

Long, of Kansas, and Payne, of New York, Declare Issue Vital to Taft's Success.

DRAWN TO HIS IDEAS.

McCart, of New Jersey, Led in Denouncing It as Unnecessary Attack on Courts.

CHICAGO, June 18.—The meeting of the full committee on resolutions was held in the "Francis Plank" room of the Auditorium Hotel annex at Michigan avenue and Congress street, and began at 10 o'clock last night.

It was supposed to be strictly "executive" and secret, and the bulk of the discussion was carried on in comparatively low tones, inaudible a few feet outside of the group of committeemen; but when the much-discussed plank relating to the limitation of court injunction orders, especially in labor controversies, was reached, the intensity of feeling which has marked all debates on this subject since the convention began was evidenced in raised voices and all attempts at secrecy were forgotten. At the same time, the debate never reached the point of personal heat or exchange of invective.

The injunction plank was reached in the full committee a few minutes after 1 o'clock A. M., with Committeeman McCart, of New Jersey, opening the fight against its adoption. Mr. McCart, whose resonant tones filled the hall, declared such a plank would be a reflection upon the integrity of the courts, and was entirely unnecessary.

Heard in Silence.

He asked those in favor of it to show a single instance where the power of injunction had been abused by any court, and emphasized his remarks by denunciations of the stand and demands of the labor people.

Mr. McCart's remarks occupied nearly fifteen minutes, and during that time the committee sat apparently unmoved, and there was no response in the way of applause or audible dissent as he finished.

Senator Long, of Kansas, took up the subject in behalf of the plank submitted by the sub-committee. He also was very emphatic in his remarks. He said the wording of the plank, while not so radical as that proposed by Mr. McCart, was nevertheless a step forward by the Republican party.

He declared an issue confronted the party, and there would be universal criticism if something was not done. He agreed that while the issuance of injunctions by the courts was, as a rule, in strict conformity with the laws, as they appear on the statute books, the plank proposed by the committee would seem to make the general practice a universal one throughout the country.

Payne Defends Plank.

Representative Seno E. Payne, of New York, who is Chairman of the committee on Ways and Means in the House of Representatives, came out strongly in favor of the proposed plank. Mr. Payne said the party was about to nominate a man who believed in such a measure, and who had declared himself in speeches of the past two years, and especially in his recent one in Cooper Union, New York City, as strongly in favor of such action by Congress.

Mr. Payne dwelt at length on the attitude of Mr. Taft in this connection, and said that while he himself had been pledged to vote for Gov. Hughes for the Presidential nomination, he had no doubt the Ohio candidate would be the choice of the Ohio voters.

A Teacher's Experience.

"My friends call me 'The Postum Preacher,'" writes a Miss school teacher, "because I preach the gospel of Postum every where I go, and have been the means of liberating many 'coffee-top slaves'."

"I don't care what they call me so long as I can help others to see what they lose by sticking to coffee, and can show them the way to steady nerves, clear brain and general good health by using Postum."

"While a school girl I drank coffee and had fits of trembling and was through a stage of nervous prostration which took me three years to rally from."

"Mother coaxed me to use Postum, but I thought coffee would give me strength. So things went, and when I married I found my husband and I were both coffee toppers, and I can sympathize with a drunkard who tries to leave off his cups."

"At last, in sheer desperation, I bought a package of Postum, followed the directions, and lo! I was cured. I had good cream and asked my husband how he liked the coffee."

"We each drank three cups apiece, and what a satisfied feeling it left! Our conversion has lasted several years and will continue as long as we live, for it has made us new—nerves are steady, appetites good, sleep sound and refreshing."

How Committee Voted on Injunction Plank

CHICAGO, June 18.—The vote of the full Resolutions Committee on the injunction plank, incorporating it in the platform by a vote of 35 to 16, was as follows:

FOR THE INJUNCTION PLANK—Montgomery, of Alabama; Rammel, of Arkansas; Ullman, of Connecticut; DuPont, of Delaware; Chubb, of Florida; Johnson, of Georgia; Hopkins, of Illinois; Hemenway, of Indiana; Long, of Kansas; Ballitt, of Kentucky; Mace, of Maryland; Crane, of Massachusetts; Kellogg, of Minnesota; Yellowley, of Mississippi; Warner, of Missouri; Field, of Nebraska; Payne, of New York; Adams, of North Carolina; LeMonroe, of North Dakota; Ellis, of Ohio; Harris, of Oklahoma; Dabell, of Pennsylvania; Dixon, of Rhode Island; Crawford, of South Dakota; Ogden, of Texas; Groner, of Virginia; Ballinger, of Washington; Cooper, of Wisconsin; Clark, of Wyoming; Sloan, of Alaska; Flatner, of Arizona; Nason, of New Mexico, and the Philippine and Porto Rico committeemen.

AGAINST THE PLANK—Melvin, of California; Drake, of Colorado; O'Neil, of Idaho; Lacey, of Iowa; Dunn, of Maine; Fordney, of Michigan; Bennett, of Montana; Nixon, of Nevada; Moses, of New Hampshire; McCart, of New Jersey; Selbridge, of Oregon; Sutherland, of Utah; Fletcher, of Vermont; Mann, of West Virginia, and the committeemen from the District of Columbia and Hawaii.

The States whose vote was not ascertained were Louisiana, South Carolina and Tennessee.

of the convention. He believed the adoption of this plank in the Republican platform would insure Mr. Taft's election.

Frank H. Kellogg, of Minnesota, followed with an equally spirited and vehement speech in support of the plank, during which he surprised his hearers by quoting from a letter he said he had received within twelve hours from Mr. Taft indorsing the plank and pointing out that it coincided with the view he had expressed during the past year, and, notably, within the past few months.

Mr. McCart and several others opposed to the injunction measure replied briefly, but shortly before 2 o'clock it became evident the patience of all was becoming exhausted, and when the proposition to bring the question to a vote was made it received unanimous support. Everybody was tired out.

The matter of taking the vote occasioned a brief discussion, some members of the committee desiring a simple division without record of individual votes. This was met by the cry of "No! No! Roll-call! Roll-call!" and one committeeman said: "There is no harm in having a record of the vote. The vote will never be made public." All hands seemed to take this comfortable assurance for granted, and the roll-call by States was begun.

The actual test vote was taken on

If you ate plenty of fruit, coarse food and green vegetables, the bowels would never need help.

But when you eat fine food, and rich food, you must supply the laxative in some other way.

Do it in Nature's way.

Don't employ salts or pill cathartics, for they irritate Nature. They irritate and injure the stomach and bowels.

Nearly all dyspepsia—all constipation is caused by the use of harsh physic.

Cascarets—a vegetable laxative—have precisely the same effect as a laxative food.

You know they don't harm you because they don't gripe.

They do for the bowels just what right living would do. And they do it as gently and naturally.

You can take them any hour of the day. And that is the proper method. Carry them with you. Take one just as soon as you need it.

That is the way to keep well at all times, without the ill effects of a physic.
